SMALL-LUNDIN GROUP BEATEN AT SPRINGFIELD

Antis Control State G.O.P. Committee.

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

Springfield, Ill., April 20.—[Special.]—The newly elected Republican state committee tonight was taken over by the opposition to Gov. Small, Mayor Thompson, and Fred Lundin. Fifteen of the twenty-five members elected last Tuesday met in caucus and organized flatly against any city hall-state house influence.

Forecast of the Convention. This action tonight was an indication of what will happen tomorrow in the Republican state convention, according to sentiment hereabouts. Gov. Small and the city hall will make no serious attempt to proceed with their original program of belligerency, and the forecast for the morrow is fair and peaceable. If there is a scrap Small and the city hall will be beaten to a frazzle.

Peace Conference Begins. A peace conference between representatives of the factions in tomorrow's convention is in session at midnight. The conferees are Emil C. Wetzel, representing Senator McCormick; Harry I. Green, for Senator McKinley; Senator Richard R. Meents, for Gov. Small, and Senator S. A. Eitelson, for Mayor Thompson. The understanding is that the committee will have an adjourned session at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning to the "old" state committee, which will regulate the action of the state convention. It is expected this adjournment will stop the battle between the factions.

Follows Drafting of Protocol. The appointment of the committee followed the outlining of a peace program which was suggested by the Small-Lundin-Thompson forces, as follows:

- 1. No effort to be made to secure from the state convention any endorsement of the Small administration of state affairs.
- 2. No attempt to be made by the city hall to shove through the state convention party approval of the mayor's so-called "5 cent" fare bill and the tax commission bill, defeated last June by a Republican legislature.
- 3. No effort to put through the state convention an endorsement of the Thompson platform, repudiated by the state and national conventions of 1920.
- 4. Reaffirmation of the state committee's action in 1920 in seating as delegates from Cook county the delegates chosen by county committee men who were in 1920 members of the "new" or city hall committee.

Small Stripped of Power. If this program, which has been agreed to by Senators McKinley and McCormick and State Chairman Smith, is adopted there is every indication that peace will be restored. If it falls there will be a fight in which Gov. Small is a certain loser. Gov. Small, his friends admit, is convinced that he has nothing to hope for from the convention. It is doubtful if the governor could control a half dozen county delegations. His friends admit this.

Demand Dail Stop Revolt or Quit.

DUBLIN, April 20.—[By the Associated Press.]—Firing broke out tonight at 11:15 o'clock and at the hour of the filing of this dispatch was going on heavily at the Wellington barracks, Beggar's Bush, and elsewhere.

DUBLIN, April 20.—The Irish labor party and trades union congress issued a manifesto late tonight, calling for general stoppage of work from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m. Monday on all services excepting those of a humanitarian nature. The action is taken, the manifesto says, as a protest against the existing state of violence.

The labor leaders, after consulting the leaders of all factions, are convinced that the deeds of aggression are being committed by individuals and groups without the authority of any party. They have suggested that representatives of Rory O'Connor's army council be invited to meet with Eamon de Valera and Michael Collins, who failed to reach peace terms today. They declare it is the duty of the Dail when it meets Tuesday to reunite the army under a single command.

"The country demands that the Dail should assert its authority and accept the responsibility of government or confess its impotence and make way for the people to pick a competent government," the manifesto concludes. The strike will affect 300,000 workers and will result in the stoppage of all railway, postal, and telegraph services.

Peace Parley Deadlocked. The Collins-De Valera peace conference adjourned until next Wednesday after a session lasting ninety minutes. Although no official announcement was made the deadlock between Mr. de Valera and Mr. Collins is reported to be serious as to preclude all possibility of any satisfactory results.

Mr. de Valera, who appeared to be in ill health, and Cathal Brugha were cheered as they entered the mansion house, but Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins were cheered louder. It is plain that popular sympathy is with the last two, who are regarded as meeting the great difficulties with courage and skill.

Look Over Battle Damage. Dublin people spent much of the day looking over the damage left by the battling early this morning in Rutland street, at O'Connell bridge, on College Green and around Beggar's Bush barracks, where the main forces, loyal to the Collins government are stationed.

Bullet marks showed that the offices of the provisional government had been attacked from both front and rear. The central telephone exchange, where one trooper was wounded, was heavily pelted by bullets.

Only three men were wounded, two loyalists and one "rebel," according to the best reports obtainable.

CLAIMS HUSBAND IS "GOLF MANIAC"; SEEKS A DIVORCE

Detroit, Mich., April 20.—Howard B. Lee, prominent in business here and once holder of the Michigan state amateur golf championship, is a "golf maniac," his wife, Helen Bourne Joy Lee, charged in a suit for divorce, it was learned today. Mrs. Lee is one of the leaders of the younger social set of Grosse Pointe. She is the daughter of Henry B. Joy, Detroit capitalist.

In the suit, filed Dec. 29, Mrs. Lee declared her husband neglected her and their three children to play golf. For years he has been a familiar figure at the Detroit Country club and Lochmoor club links.

Lee filed an answer denying the charges and claiming his participation in the game was a "business asset," owing to the acquaintances he was able to make among other business men on the links.

Mrs. Lee also charges cruelty, alleging Lee misled her in financial transactions.

The divorce action became known today when a suit was filed against the Highland Park State bank charging that institution had not properly protected Mrs. Lee in the transfer of $30,000 worth of securities to her husband.

F. WALTHER DIES SITTING ON BENCH IN "L" STATION

Ferdinand Walther, 71 years old, 3642 Greenwood avenue, wealthy retired carpenter contractor, who a number of years ago sold what is now Starved Rock park to the state of Illinois, was found dead sitting on a bench at the Southport avenue station of the North-western Elevated railroad last night. Heart disease is believed to have been the cause of death. Mr. Walther, a pioneer of Chicago, had returned from a tour of Germany about two weeks ago.

Mr. Walther was born in Germany Nov. 11, 1850, and came to Chicago in October, 1878. He retired from active business many years ago and devoted a large part of his time to charitable work. For several years and up to the time of his death he was president of the German-American Citizens' league.

Several years ago he acquired land in La Salle county which a corporation had designed for a private park. Eight years ago he was appealed to by state officials to sell the land which the state wished to turn into a state park. He agreed and accepted the price set by the state.

SEIZE $300,000 PAYROLL BANDITS

Eight Held; Police Hunt Rival Gang's Spy.

[Picture on page 5.] The Whiting, Ind., mail robbery of last December and the robbery of the Royal Building and Loan association in South Chicago, in which a policeman and a civilian were killed, were partially cleared yesterday by the arrest of eight members of a bandit gang and the confession of four. These eight men, it was learned, planned the Whiting robbery, where five parcels of mail were stolen in the hope of finding a $300,000 Standard Oil company shipment, but it was another group of bandits that actually committed the robbery.

Those Under Arrest. Stanley Zolla, real estate dealer with offices at 115 East 118th street, is the leader of the first gang, according to a confession by Walter Marcinak, 662 East 121st street, Whiting, a clerk at the Standard Oil plant, who was arrested by Lieut. John J. Farrell and squad. Others arrested were Joseph Marcinak, brother of Walter, 57 West 154th street; William Wojcik, 3214 West 75th street; Joseph Skopack, 3044 West 40th place; Stanley Spornak, 37th and Kedzie avenue; Frank Borg, 38th and Homan avenue, and Joseph Suchko, 120th and New York streets, Whiting.

According to confessions, the Whiting robbery was planned by Zolla. He also is said to have arranged for the bag company robbery and the robbery of Otto Bauer's saloon, at 9505 Cottage Grove avenue. He is said to have found the men, planned the details of robbery, escape, and disposal of loot in his office. At Marcinak's house, while the robberies were being planned, a Russian known as "George" and a girl named Suchka were included in the conversation, and through this, it is said, betrayal and failure came.

Arraigned by U. S. Today. On Dec. 15 Zolla's group went to the scene of the robbery, but was frightened away by a black automobile containing four men, whom they thought were officers. A week later, on another payroll day, the mail sacks were stolen, and the charge is that the Russian, "George," told Chicago criminals of the plan and they came in ahead of the Whiting crowd. Search is being made for the Russian, as the police think he will be able to clear up the case. The eight men arrested will be arraigned in the federal building this morning.

A renewed outbreak of holdups and robberies was reported yesterday, and it is the police theory that eastern crooks are in Chicago, following crime drives in other cities.

WIFE AND TWO CHILDREN GONE

LLOYD GEORGE PREDICTS PACT OF ALL EUROPE

Nations to Forswear Acts of Aggression.

(Picture on back page.) GENOA, April 20.—[By the Associated Press.]—Facing 500 newspaper representatives of virtually all the world nations, the British prime minister today, after announcing that the Germans would accept the conditions imposed by the allies concerning the Russo-German treaty and that the Soviet's reply on the general Russian question would be such as to permit of further hopeful negotiations, declared his unshakable conviction that the Genoa conference would prove a great success.

He believed it would restore harmony in Europe and was supremely confident that before adjourning it would adopt an agreement whereby all the nations of Europe would bind themselves not to commit acts of aggression against neighboring countries.

"Such a pact," he explained with vigor, "is an essential to the favorable issue of this conference; without it, I believe, the conference will be a failure."

"Conference Going Strong." Mr. Lloyd George seemed fatigued as he entered the famous royal palace, where the first and only plenary session of the conference was held on April 19. He found the green baize tables which had been occupied by the conference delegates now crowded to overflowing by the writers, who were glad to be present at a quiz which promised to disclose to some extent the future of the conference.

The prime minister's decision to talk to the press was an outgrowth of the system at the Washington conference, where it was the custom of the leading delegates to receive the newspaper men daily, and which worked so well. Removing his winter overcoat, with which Mr. Lloyd George seeks to avoid the April chills of Genoa, he rather wearily stroked his thick white locks.

"His first words gave disappointment. 'I came not to make a speech, but rather to answer questions, and so clear up misunderstandings,' he said, but immediately added: 'God is in his heaven, and he is going strong. The public may be said to be divided into two categories—those who want to see the conference succeed and those who would like to see it go down in defeat. But the latter will not see their desire crowned. We are working through our difficulties quite successfully.'"

Overcoming Treaty Row. The prime minister then made the announcement that the difficulties growing out of the signing of a separate Russo-German accord would be overcome, and later he made it clear that he had good reason to believe the German delegates were preparing to accept the suggestions laid down in the note sent them by the allied representatives. In it were specific conditions which the Germans would be expected not to sit on the commissions which henceforth will deal with Russian questions, because the Germans had already settled their affairs with Russia outside the conference.

"I don't want to anticipate the character of the soviet answer to our proposals for a general accord with Russia," continued the premier, "but I would be surprised if it were not of such a character as to permit us to go on with our work of reconstructing the convulsed and devastated continent. The sub-commission on political affairs will meet tomorrow to consider the soviet reply, which is due tonight or tomorrow."

Asked About Rathenau. The meeting of the premier and newspaper men was then thrown open to questions, with the understanding that all should be submitted in writing. This announcement curbed the enthusiasm of some who seemed prepared to submit the British leader to a grilling cross-examination. The first question was:

"Why does Dr. Rathenau say you know all about the Russo-German treaty in advance?"

"I don't know whether Rathenau said that or not," came back the premier with amazing quickness. "Certainly he did not say it to me. If he did it would have been absolutely untrue. I knew nothing about the treaty until I met my colleagues on the way to the afternoon meeting."

All on Equal Footing. Mr. Lloyd George emphasized that everybody was on an equal footing at Genoa, and that the Germans had a place on all the commissions which were to discuss the accord affecting

Report Boat Is Burning on Flooded Ohio River

Cincinnati, O., April 21, 1 a. m.—A report that a boat was burning in the Ohio river twenty-five miles below Cincinnati was received shortly after midnight. The telephone operator at Lawrenceburg, Ind., said the blaze could be seen from that point, but nothing was known there as to the identity of the craft.

Members of the crew of a freight train arriving at Lawrenceburg reported seeing the steamer burning near the mouth of the Big Miami river.

They said that they could see the passengers being taken off the vessel in small boats. The steamer, they said, was alive from stem to stern, but they thought all persons had been taken off.

RICH CHICAGOANS GET GOAT HERDS FOR BABIES' MILK

C. A. Stevens to Bring 70
from Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 20.—[Special.]—Born of the crying need of a baby with a weak stomach, and curiously interwoven with the sale of box seats for the opera, the foundation for a milk goat industry worthy of the nation's attention has just been laid by a group of Chicago millionaires who discovered the subjects of their desire within a dozen miles of Los Angeles.

The lowly goat is finally coming into its own. The poor man's cow is now the rich man's hobby. Goats are now traveling to luxe by fast express, blanketed, manured, and personally attended. In specially built cars, with right of way over everything except first class passengers.

This afternoon southern California yielded up seventy of her finest Toggenberg does to establish seven herds of pure bred milk goats in northern Illinois and Wisconsin. They were bought by a State street merchant for a group of Chicago capitalists, and next June they will be sold on the auction block.

The sale will take place at the goat farm of Charles A. Stevens, Chicago retail merchant, whose country home is at Delavan Lake, Wis. According to reports George Ade and Willbur D. Noyes will be the auctioneer.

Herds for Seven.
America's most valuable milk goat, Polly Mac of Pasadena, owned by J. B. McLaughlin, will be first on the block at a starting bid of $5,000. The seven millionaires for whom Mr. Stevens journeyed to southern California and bought the prize flock of Toggenbergs are:

A. Watson Armour, Chicago; Otto H. Falk, Milwaukee; O. W. Lehmann, Chicago; Joseph P. Allen, Delavan, Wis.; Arthur L. Farwell, Chicago; W. O. Washburn, St. Paul, Minn.; and James A. Patten, Evanston, Ill.

The train, which left here late today, is scheduled to go through to the Stevens farm at Delavan Lake in five days. Night and morning, on this trip, the herdsmen and his helpers will have upwards of thirty fresh does to milk. This will be productive of perhaps as much as 150 quarts of milk a day, which will be handed out at the principal cities to people who have their buckets and bottles at the stations. Thus, for a time, the promoters of this unique enterprise will operate the first transcontinental dairy.

Milk for Sick Child.
Five years ago Mr. Stevens' granddaughter, little Barbara Soper, was suffering from indigestion. The family physician prescribed goat's milk. It couldn't be found in Chicago.

Mr. Stevens sent for the advertising manager of his store and commissioned him to buy a milk goat without delay. He ran an advertisement in the Chicago papers asking for a milk goat and requesting that replies be sent to the Stevens store. The ad. "proves to be somewhat of a joke in Chicago. Replies drifted in by the hundred, but no one had a milk goat.

So the goat hunter finally found a purebred herd of "Togs" not far from Philadelphia. The State street merchant ordered a goat by telegraph.

One day a friend, whose wife was under the care of a physician, sought Mr. Stevens and wanted to borrow one of his goats for a few weeks. The request was granted. Since then some of the Stevens goats have been loaned out almost constantly.

In chance meetings at the opera, Mr. Stevens from time to time met many personal friends, who took a lively interest in his goat dairy venture and pinned to own a few Toggenbergs of their own.

ITALIAN REDS FIGHT FASCISTI IN MANY CITIES

At Trieste a street battle resulted in the killing of one of the Fascisti and the wounding of three others. The Fascisti also aroused the ire of the Catholics in Trieste in interrupting a religious procession.

In Perugia one man was killed and a score of others were wounded in revolver duels between Communists and Fascisti.

MAX RABINOFF NOW HEADS RUSS CO-OPERATIVES

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
GENOA, April 20.—Max Rabinoff, who sold pianos in Chicago and later became a concert manager, has arrived at Genoa and is representing the all-Russian cooperative who are conferring in Milan. The organization is known as the "centrosolus" and is declared to be non-bolshevik by M. Rabinoff, who according to newspaper clippings was one of President Harding's first advisers on the Russian situation.

M. Rabinoff declares the cooperatives are headed by M. Kisin and M. Belousoff, who are conferring with Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy, and other nations on financial and material aid, but they will not participate in the Genoa conference until the Russian political question is settled. They then hope to enlist American aid for the cooperatives, who are called Russia's biggest distributors of all materials.

NEED MORE TAXES TO MEET DEFICIT OF $350,000,000

Washington, D. C., April 20.—Levying of additional taxes probably will be necessary to meet the deficit of more than $350,000,000 forecast for the fiscal year of 1923 by Secretary Mellon. It was said today at the treasury.

High officials of the treasury, discussing the expected deficit, said that no consideration had yet been given to means of meeting the lack of funds, but that it was apparent the deficit would probably have to be raised by taxation, as the government "did not have anything to sell."

MRS. TUTTLE OF IOWA DROPS IN UPON CHICAGO

Mrs. C. E. Tuttle dropped in on Chicago for a short visit yesterday from Red Oak, Ia., a suburb of Mrs. Tuttle's advanced method of locomotion. "Dropped in" is used in the literal sense, for the Tuttle family are long on airplanes. They have two Curtises, one of which her husband uses to fly around in his business. Mrs. Tuttle employs the other for calls on various surrounding cities when she feels the machine or the shopping urge.

"I've made about thirty-five trips," Mrs. Tuttle said after alighting at Elmhurst. "I sail over to Omaha, which is only fifty miles and twenty-three minutes when I need some knock-knocks for the children. It took us four hours and fifty-five minutes actual flying time from Red Oak here. It is 400 miles. We made two stops. I drove all the way."

E. D. Wagner, an overseas pilot, who taught Mrs. Tuttle to aviate, accompanied her as mechanic. She will stop at the home of Mrs. David A. Marks, a sister, at 6019 South Park avenue.

KILL HUGE APE AFTER ATTACK ON HIS KEEPER

Toledo, O., April 20.—Tony, mammoth ape at Walbridge park, was killed by a policeman after he had attacked Louis Scherer, chief of the zoo, and badly injured him in a terrific battle inside his cage and later in the open park.

With similar cunning Tony lay in wait for Scherer, who was carrying a tray of food. Swinging from a trapeze, he leaped upon the keeper, sinking his fangs into his flesh and clawing him again and again. With the ape clinging to him, Scherer staggered out through the open door of the cage.

Citizens, attracted by the commotion, called a policeman, who sent a bullet through Tony's skull.

RIVERS EAT INTO MIDWEST DIKES; TOWNS PERILED

Mississippi Gangs Fight Levee Breaks.

Flooded rivers continued yesterday to spread over middle west farms and towns, with Illinois, Indiana, and Iowa the worst sufferers, while the districts along the Mississippi turned out large numbers of men who fought all night to save the levees and to rescue marooned families.

Threats of the Indiana and Illinois levees gave way before the swollen Wabash river, inundating thousands of acres of crops. Flood waters from the Ambrav swept out across miles of farms, making flood conditions in southern Indiana worse than they have been for years. In Vincennes, Ind., thirty-five blocks were under water.

Families Are Rescued.
McClure, Ill., expected to be flooded, as water rushed over approximately 40,000 acres of cultivated land from six levee breaks. A number of residents have fled. American Red Cross workers rescued marooned residents of Dog Tooth Bend. The sufferers were brought by steamers to Cairo. Food for 400 homeless residents of Naples also was provided.

Seventy-five thousand acres were threatened by a big break in the levee near Fountain Bluff, southwest of Murphysboro, Ill.

Breaking of the Hartwell levee on the Illinois river, near Carrollton, Ill., completed the flooding of 30,000 acres of reclaimed farm land, along a twenty-three mile river front in Greene county. No lives were lost and most of the live stock had been taken previously to higher ground.

Muscatine In Danger.
The flood peril became acute in Muscatine, Ia., yesterday, when water began to eat through the new government levee. It is feared that the seepage will sap the lead to a serious break. With the Mississippi climbing higher and basements flooded, Clinton, Ia., yesterday was counting the toll of the terrible windstorm that swept the region, when a 4 year old girl was killed by a toppling chimney, and considerable damage was done to windows, telephone poles, and houses. Water is periling the Clinton telephone system.

Four Southern Floods.
All steam railway service between Clinton and Davenport, Ia., has been abandoned, with water rushing over the tracks. Trains last night were detained over the Illinois side of the river.

Back French, Cairo Says.
CAIRO, Egypt, April 20.—[By the Associated Press.]—Dispatches received here from Syria say that fighting between revolutionaries and French troops has become increasingly severe around Jarabes and that the French have withdrawn from Del Rezor after a battle of considerable duration.

PLEA FOR LEAGUE OF NATIONS MADE BY LADY ASTOR

New York, April 20.—Expressing regret that America had not joined in the Genoa conference, Lady Astor tonight made an earnest plea to this nation to join in the league of nations, prefacing it with the statement, "I'll now plunge in where angels fear to tread." She followed her call to "end wars" with a sharp reproach to those here who "abuse" England.

"You need not call it a league of nations," she told 1,000 members and guests of the English Speaking Union at its dinner in the Hotel Biltmore. "You can call it what you like—give it a new name every week—but for God's sake give it a chance. The United States and Great Britain are the ones who can provide this chance."

"Sees Starving Children." Clad in a delicate gown of ermine, speaking in low tones and dropping her "g's" in true southern fashion, the slim member for Plymouth appeared perfectly at ease—the portly man standing in the shadow of her old home, the Langhorne mansion, in Virginia.

"I don't want to recriminate America," she said, "but I do want to help Europe. I wish that America had been at Genoa. I can see the starving thousands of children in Europe, and I do want all to help. Maybe it is Europe's fault, but it will be our fault if we don't help. I am not criticizing America, mind, but I wish she had been at Genoa."

Ties between the United States and Great Britain on the basis of promotion of "peace and good will toward men," she declared, were essential to the future good of the world. And she had only "sorrow" for those "who try to pull us apart."

Nearly Criticizes U. S. Senate. Touching lightly on the war against "German imperialism," she urged all to concentrate on the future because "it's hopeless trying to go forward when you are looking backward," adding, "we have had enough hate and I, for one, am not prepared to hate, not even the Germans, any longer."

On the subject of criticism of England in this country, she interjected: "They are very generous in the house of commons to the United States, far more generous than some people in the senate." She paused here and rephrased her remark to "far more generous than some prominent people are in America when they speak of England. I don't believe any one could get up in the house of commons and abuse the United States. They'd be told 'That's not cricket.' It is this spirit that is the strength of Great Britain. They may be limited, but they are not little."

Father of Four Draws 14 Years for Slaying of Wife

Franz Mazar, 53 years old, 1433 North Ashland avenue, the father of four children, yesterday pleaded guilty to the murder of his wife, Mary, and was sentenced to fourteen years in the penitentiary by Judge John J. Sullivan.

Mrs. Tillie Kranz, who lived in the flat below Mazar, testified that on Sept. 17 Mazar pursued his wife into the Kranz flat and, after an argument, shot her.

WOMEN FROM 22 NATIONS ATTEND BALTIMORE MEET

Baltimore, Md., April 20.—(Special.)

Gov. Albert Ritchie of Maryland sounded the keynote of the big Pan-American convention of women which opened here today. He said it was only by "whole hearted cooperation" of all forces that peace, prosperity, and a spirit of friendliness between nations could be secured.

Twenty-five hundred women, including about fifty official delegates from twenty-two countries of the western hemisphere, with a sprinkling of prominent women from Europe, crowded the roof of the Century theater for the opening session. It was a notable gathering—the first assembly of its kind ever held in the world.

Archbishop's Plea for Peace.

An impressive plea for the women to promote the spirit of peace was made by Archbishop Curley in his invocation.

"We have grown weary of wars and blood," he said, "we ask, therefore, in all humility, for the grace of being able to keep before their eyes the principles once enunciated for suffering humanity. We beseech Thee to keep this nation of ours one of clean hands and generous hearts, a national example to the world, ever free from the intrigue, injustice, and lust of power for power's sake."

Mrs. Park, national president of the League of Women Voters, said: "We women have problems in common that are not defined by national boundaries. In this convention, we shall all receive help in solving our common problems."

Warm Greetings from Union.

Warm greetings of the Pan-American union were brought by L. S. Rowe, director general of the union.

It was significant of the women's interest that their first official conference should be on the subject of "Child Welfare." Governmental and legislative aids in the development of child welfare were stressed by both foreign and continental speakers.

That it is "almost considered a disgrace for a married woman in Ecuador to have less than six children, and to give birth to a dozen, more or less, is not uncommon," was the statement of Mme. Matilde de Carbo of that country, whose speech was read by her daughter.

JOBS INCREASE IN 6 INDUSTRIES, GROW LESS IN 7

Washington, D. C., April 20.—(Special.)

Reports to the bureau of labor statistics of the department of labor show increases in the number of persons on the pay roll in six groups of industries in March, as compared with February, and decreases in seven groups. Car building and repairing showed an increase of 4.5 per cent, and men's ready made clothing an increase of 3.4 per cent. The greatest decrease, 28.5 per cent, was in the cotton manufacturing industry.

Leaders of the two factions urging support for the peace movement. "This committee was selected to represent both sides and reestablish Republican harmony," he declared.

May Follow One Precedent.

It is possible that the "old" state committee, dominated by Mr. Smith, will make no attempt to decide the status of either the city hall-county committee in Cook county or the newly arranged Brundage-Crowe-Densen country towns committee. Mr. Smith will propose that the 1920 precedent be followed in reorganizing the committee. This would mean that the eight wards won by State's Attorney Crowe and put into the Crowe-Brundage-Densen column, together with the country towns precinct committees, will have a majority in all committees.

Gov. Small and the city hall claim only the ward committees in Chicago, whose privileges as committees are carried along by the 1920 election in wards where there is no contest. The truce was reached after Senators

McCormick and McKinley made it plain that they sought no resolutions attacking Small or the city hall. As neither senator is up for reelection in November, they waived any suggestion of endorsement of themselves.

Gov. Small, consulting with various delegations, was convinced that he couldn't control the state convention, even through seating the solid city hall delegation from Chicago.

Mayor Thompson, Fred Lundin, and most of the mayor's cabinet came in at 3 p. m. One hour was enough to show that there was no hope for the city hall. Thus the indications are that a compromise will be reached that may settle everything, including the temporary chairmanship. Senator Eastington of La Salle county probably will be the temporary chairman.

DEMOCRATS UNIFIED

BY FAREN BROWN.

Springfield, Ill., April 20.—(Special.) Unless the "light wines and beer" issue is poured in during the platform discussion there probably will be nothing to disturb the placidity of the Democratic state convention tomorrow. Even that probably wouldn't add excitement to the day's program, for the majority opinion of the advance guard seems to be that the wet slogan wouldn't be of much use in the November campaign.

It is expected that in general the platform will follow the lines of the Cook county platform and be devoted almost entirely to Republican aims. It also will contain endorsement of both the lake and the golf and the St. Lawrence deep waterway.

DIVORCE SUIT MAY BE SEQUEL TO MAYER'S VISIT

Divorce action will follow the separation of Mrs. Ruth Shaffner Mayer from her husband, E. Millar Mayer, Newport (Ky.) automobile manufacturer and defendant in the United States Supreme court "leak" case, it was admitted last night by Mrs. Mayer's attorney, Leo F. Wormser. When and where the proceedings will be begun he could not say.

Guards remained at the Shaffner home, 5246 Harper avenue, where Mrs. Mayer fled with her three children and where the husband is said to have made an attempt to gain entrance to get the children Wednesday. Mayer, however, had disappeared. He turned up in the evening in Cincinnati, where he told the police he had not been in Chicago, but had merely been on a business trip to Indianapolis.

"Mayer's denial that he was in Chicago is a weak attempt to run to cover and alibi himself. It is a cowardly retreat. He was not only in Chicago, but was at the head of the kidnapping party that came to the Shaffner home in an automobile. I know whose auto he had and who one of his companions was."

NEW PRISON AT JOLIET TO SORT OUT PRISONERS

To Cull First Offenders
from Old Ones.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Separation of first offenders from the hardened criminals is one prison advance which will be established in the new Joliet penitentiary, which will be completed in another twelve months. Nine out of every ten men sent to Joliet have never served time in a penal institution before, the records show. In a majority of cases, however, it is likely that their commitment has been preceded by years of reckless, vicious living, and possibly by misdeeds for which punishment was escaped. But these first offenders form the great field for reclamation work, and to increase the chance of reformation in the new jail they will be segregated from the habitual criminals.

In the recent inquiry made at the prison itself by an American Bar association committee the convicts who testified agreed on one point—each declared that men sent up for the first time should be kept separate from the case hardened felons to save them from further contamination.

Plan Individual Cells.
In the new prison the building plan is based on the progressive merit system, and the prisoners will be grouped according to their class. In the section devoted to the newcomers there will be an individual cell for each inmate.

Penologists regard this as a most important adjunct of the modern method under which employment in prison industries of more or less variety is used as the real basis for fitting convicts, if possible, for their return to society. Years ago enforced idleness was the practice. Also silence. It was collective isolation in an ill-lit cell that made dark minds still blacker. The prison stripes have been abolished, save for escaped and recaptured offenders. Silence has been lifted and the men may talk in the shops and in their cells in a conversational tone. Towards prison labor the attitude of the free workers has been rapidly changing.

Abolish Contract System.
When employment was first inaugurated in the prisons it took the form of the contract system under which the labor of convicts was leased to outsiders. The ruthless exploitation of the prisoner under this system, its disintegrating and corrupting effect upon prison discipline, its effect upon markets where it cut under the products of free labor, led to its eradication. Organized labor took the lead in stamping it out and the abolition of the contract system was accounted one of the great prison reforms. Illinois in 1886 by constitutional amendment prohibited contract convict labor. Now there are only some eight states in which the contract system is retained.

Then came the development of the state or public account system, where the labor of the prisoner was directed into a state factory on competitive lines. Likewise came the state use idea where the products of the prisoners were used to supply state institutions. Illinois has both systems; the penal industries supply some of the state's needs and up to 40 per cent of prison products may be placed on the competitive market. Under this condition the establishment of a diversified industry is possible through which the work habits of the delinquent, if he has any, may be developed during his incarceration. The competitive effect of prison labor upon free labor is insignificant. Ordinarily the penal population of the state is about 4,000. If 60 per cent is productively employed, it means only 2,400 workers.

HELD AS MEMBERS OF BANDIT GANG

Police are holding eight men as conspirators to stage a $300,000 pay roll robbery at the Standard Oil company plant at Whiting, Ind. The robbery attempt failed, but police believe these men will be able to clear up the whole affair. The photo (left to right) shows: Joseph Marciniak, James Sushko, Walter Marciniak, and Stanley Zollo.

Saves Much in Taxes.
Most of the output goes to supply state institutions, the rest is sold competitively without underselling similar products of free labor. It means so much saved in taxes, so much more produced; no effect, to speak of, upon free labor. And what is most important of all is the part the employment plays in the general scheme for social reeducation of the offender against the day of his discharge. All this is well recognized. Disputes between prison authorities and organized labor over prison products are now quite rare, at least in Illinois.

WIFE STOLEN BY DOCTOR, MAN SAYS IN SUIT FOR $100,000

Alleged malicious and unfounded statements which caused Mrs. Jarvis L. Gray to leave her husband and seek the company of Dr. William A. Dittenbaugh, 5946 South Halsted street, are contained in the declaration filed in the Superior court yesterday by Gray in support of his $100,000 damage suit against the physician.

Gray, who lives at 6137 Dorchester avenue, asserts Dr. Dittenbaugh, treating him for rheumatism, represented to Mrs. Gray that he was afflicted with a social disease. Gray charges his wife left him and since has resided at home of the doctor.

Dittenbaugh recently obtained a divorce when he presented a written admission by his wife that she had been friendly "with great numbers of men." Mrs. Gray later petitioned to have the decree set aside, saying that in fear of her life she signed the affidavit which she holds to be untrue.

'OFF SEASON' FOR ROBBERS NEAR; BURGLARS ON JOB

Figures Show Less Crime
than for 1921 Quarter.

Burglaries totaled 1,113, robberies 792, in Chicago during the first three months of 1922, according to police department figures. Total crimes for the period were 2,457.

Crime statistics for the first quarter of the year tend to show that burglary is a highly developed profession in Chicago and that the calling is a steady one. Robbery, however, the figures indicate, is merely a seasonal occupation, to a large extent, and the "off season" for robbers is approaching.

Robbery Expected to Fall Off.
Unemployment and cold weather sent the robber out on the street in great numbers. The easing of the employment situation and the warmer weather have sent him to other trades. Meanwhile the professional burglar kept methodically at work. The table:

	Jan.	Feb.	Mar.	Total
Larceny	156	149	143	450
Burglary	379	380	354	1,113
Robbery	378	233	191	799
Others	97	93	86	276
Total	948	773	736	2,457

Less Than in 1921.
During the same period of 1921 there were 3,384 criminal complaints, the report shows, indicating a decrease in crime of 27 per cent. The percentage figure does not include automobile thefts, which dropped from 1,308 in 1921 to 1,059 this year.

According to the report larcenies decreased 698; burglaries, 181; robberies, eighty-one, and other crimes, sixty-seven, or a total reduction compared to January, February, and March of 1921, of 927 crimes. There was 22.5 per cent less crime in March than there was in January of this year, and the reduction is continuing in April.

INQUIRY IN FIRE DEPARTMENT IS PUT OFF A WEEK

Investigation of conditions in the fire department which the Chicago board of underwriters declare call for "immediate action" yesterday was postponed until next Wednesday when the council fire committee adjourned for lack of a quorum.

Six aldermen—Chairman Armitage and Ald. Fick, Albert, Hendricks, Schlegel, and Kavanaugh—were on hand when the roll was called. Though other members of the committee were in the corridors, Ald. Armitage announced the adjournment. This caused Ald. Albert to charge that "there apparently is a movement on foot to hinder, delay, and block this inquiry."

Quesse and his fellow defendants are charged with conspiracy to extort money in connection with their union activities and all prospective jurors who displayed sympathies for or against union affiliations were challenged for cause. CITIZENS' ASSN. PRAISES RULING ON EXPERT FEES

on Tribune Victory.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The Citizens' association, which has made a continuous fight for clean government in Chicago since it was organized in 1874, congratulates the public on the "admirable decision" of Judge Foell in the Tribune's suit to recover $1,065,000 paid two building experts.

The association thought that the subject matter was of sufficient importance to call to the attention of the state's attorney on May 24, 1920. At that time only $127,000 had been paid Frank H. Meese and Austin J. Lynch, the two building experts, in that calendar year.

Issues Report on Fees. A year later, May 27, 1921, the association issued a report on "the enormous and appalling waste of public money" showing payments to the experts as follows:

Name	Kind of expert	Amount
Edward C. Waller Jr., real estate		$580,236.41
Ernest H. Lyons, real estate		$80,236.41
Arthur S. Merigold, real estate		$77,426.43
Austin J. Lynch, building		$44,168.18
Frank H. Meese, building		$46,418.09

Total $1,065,000. The association went on to show that it was planned to pay the five experts an aggregate of $4,891,526 for their services. This was figured to be 18.4 per cent of the total amount of the bond issues for the street improvements—$26,600,000—which it was planned to pay out for expediting alone.

Public to Be Congratulated.

"The public is to be congratulated," said Shelby M. Singleton, secretary and attorney of the organization, "on the admirable and far-reaching decision handed down by Judge Foell in overruling the demurrers filed by city officials in opposing the suit instituted a year ago by THE TRIBUNE to force restitution of enormous fees paid by the city to building experts."

"Not only does Judge Foell's decision clear the way for the trial of the suit on its merits and perhaps make possible the recovery of more than $1,000,000 paid to the two building experts, but it goes far toward establishing a new doctrine of law which bids fair to be of inestimable future benefit to taxpayers."

"The gist of this doctrine is that public officials who illegally expend public funds, or aid in expending them, may be compelled to repay such sums into the public treasury even when it cannot be shown that such officials have directly received such monies."

Provides Check on Officials.

"It is certain that this ruling, if sustained, will serve as a valuable additional check on the operations of reckless or corrupt public officials and will greatly strengthen the hands of the taxpayers in safeguarding public funds. That part of the decision which sustains the power of the city council to control the expenditure of funds derived from the sale of bonds voted for public improvements is almost equally important."

"We of the Citizens' association, who called the extravagant payments to city building experts to the attention of State's Attorney Hoyne two years ago in the effort to put a stop to them, have followed the progress of this suit with the keenest interest."

"In view of the enormous sum at stake, and the other important issues involved, we feel that THE TRIBUNE and its attorneys in carrying on this difficult litigation are performing a unique and splendid service for the taxpayers of Chicago."

BALKS AT LACING MADAME'S SHOES, GLOTZBACH SAYS

San Francisco, Cal., April 20.—A divorce complaint alleging that she caused him "grievous mental suffering" was filed against Mrs. Margaret Matzenauer, opera prima donna, here today by Floyd Glotzbach, Del Monte, Cal., chauffeur.

The couple separated a few months ago. Today's complaint states that the wedding blossoms had hardly faded before his troubles began. From the husky job of jacking up limousines and turning up motors he was called to button the madame up the back and lace her shoes, he avers, and the tasks were not to his liking. A quarrel ensued.

On one occasion at a European resort Glotzbach, according to the complaint, wanted to take a little walk and the mere suggestion caused the madame to tear off her wedding and engagement rings and fly into a terrible rage. She threw the rings in his face, the document continues, and then tore up a photograph she had given him and stamped on it.

THIRTEEN JURORS OBTAINED; BURCH TRIAL UNDER WAY

Los Angeles, Cal., April 20.—[Special].—The trial of Arthur C. Burch of Evanston, charged with the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, began today, when the 12th juror was sworn in as the thirteenth juror.

Then John D. Kennedy, father of the victim, was put on the stand. He said his son had paid some attention to Mrs. Madeline C. Obenchain—for the love of whom, it is charged, Burch committed murder.

The autopsy surgeon testified as to the wound, and declared Kennedy must have been killed instantly. Various exhibits were introduced, and pictures of the cabin in Beverly Glen, on the steps of which Kennedy was slain.

NEW DEMAND FOR PAY CONFERENCE, TEACHERS' PLAN

Renewed demands for a conference with the board of education on the question of adding $2,500,000 to the annual pay of the city's 8,000 elementary school teachers will be made by the Chicago Teachers' Federation today at a mass meeting in the Olympic theater, Miss Margaret A. Haley, business representative of the organization, said last night.

The report submitted to Mayor Thompson by William A. Bither, attorney for the board of education, as to what percentage of the educational fund has been expended for teachers' salaries, will be a target of the mass meeting, Miss Haley predicted.

"We are prepared to show," she said, "that on two items alone Mr. Bither's report is 'sidetracked.'"

"Mr. Davis seemingly is very agreeable," said Miss Haley. "It is to be noted, however, that the mayor suggested a conference to discuss this variance, and it is such a conference Mr. Davis agrees to arrange. This is not what we want—we want a conference with the board of education as a body to discuss, not variances, but increases in teachers' pay. And we don't propose to be sidetracked."

Will Not Be "Sidetracked." "Mr. Davis seemingly is very agreeable," said Miss Haley. Following a visit from a committee of school teachers on April 6, Mayor Thompson wrote Edwin S. Davis, president of the board of education, suggesting that "you call in Miss Haley and the teachers' committee who waited upon me and discuss this variance in figures" (the variance called to Mr. Bither's attention by the teachers' federation).

Acting on this, President Davis wrote Miss Haley, advising that the conference he (the mayor) suggests will be arranged at any time "satisfying the teachers' convenience."

SOLDIER'S WILL LEAVES ESTATE TO HIS FIANCEE

New York, April 20.—A girl whose fiancé went forth to fight his flag four years ago, and from whom no word has come since the day a charge was made during which he was taken prisoner by the Germans, sat weeping in a Brooklyn court today while lawyers quibbled over what should constitute legal proof of his death.

The girl was Miss Eleanor R. Knapp. Her suitor was Ernest Charlton Mason of the 16th United States infantry. The cause of her presence in court was a contest brought by Henry R. Mason, the boy's uncle, of a verbal wish, whispered to a comrade, that, if he did not live through the charge, he wished all his estate to go to his fiancée.

Attorneys for the uncle contended that the certificate of death issued by the United States government did not constitute legal proof of the soldier's death.

Money Used for Other Things. "This is $204,966 more than would be required annually to raise the minimum pay of elementary school teachers from $1,200 to $1,500 and the maximum from $2,000 to $2,500."

The persistent effort by those fighting increased pay for teachers has been to show that other drains on the educational fund are so heavy as to make the increase impossible.

Davis, president of the board of education, suggesting that "you call in Miss Haley and the teachers' committee who waited upon me and discuss this variance in figures" (the variance called to Mr. Bither's attention by the teachers' federation).

'MRS.' BARRED ON BALLOTS UNDER MINNESOTA RULE

St. Paul, Minn., April 20.—[Special].—Mrs. Peter Olson, indowed as the Democratic candidate for United States senator from Minnesota, may be obliged to amend her filing to make her name conform to legal requirements. Her original filing as Mrs. Peter Olson was accepted by Mike Holm, secretary of state, but recently the office of Attorney General Clifford L. Hilton held that a married woman, who is a candidate for office, should file in her own name, not that of her husband.

The legal opinion affecting the filing of married women was written relative to another candidacy by Rollin L. Smith, assistant attorney general, to Edward Peterson, deputy county auditor of Ramsey county.

Mrs. Olson's proper legal name is Anna Dickie Olson.

This is not what we want—we want a conference with the board of education as a body to discuss, not variances, but increases in teachers' pay. And we don't propose to be sidetracked."

Following a visit from a committee of school teachers on April 6, Mayor Thompson wrote Edwin S. Davis, president of the board of education, suggesting that "you call in Miss Haley and the teachers' committee who waited upon me and discuss this variance in figures" (the variance called to Mr. Bither's attention by the teachers' federation).

McCUMBER READY TO HELP RUSH THE BONUS BILL

Confers with Harding
Soon on Details.

BY GRAFTON WILCOX.

Washington, D. C., April 20.—(Special.)—Prompt action to hasten enactment of the soldier's bonus was promised today by Senator McCumber (N. D.), chairman of the senate finance committee, upon his return to Washington from a political fence mending trip among his constituents.

The senator announced that he would call the committee together to begin consideration of the bonus bill early next week, probably Monday. He predicted that the committee would render its report speedily in favor of the measure and that the senate would give it the right of way over the pending tariff bill.

The opposition is preparing to wage a bitter fight against the measure both in the finance committee and in the senate, but indications are that they will be so inferior in numerical strength that they will not be able to maintain a prolonged contest against the bonus.

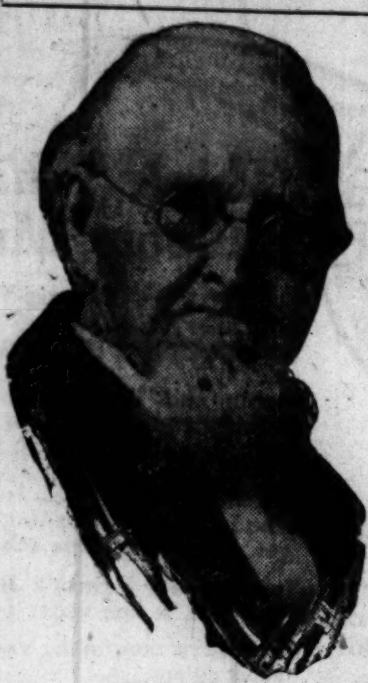

What Harding Will Accept.
In a final effort to smooth out differences between congress and the administration over the bonus, Senator McCumber is planning to confer with President Harding soon when he will endeavor to ascertain exactly what Mr. Harding will accept in the way of adjusted compensation legislation.

The most recent information from the White House is that the President's attitude is unchanged and that he is inclined to veto any bonus bill except one carrying the sales tax, which congress does not want. Some of the President's close associates insist that he will not veto the bill, however, after congress has agreed upon it and sent it to him for approval.

Might Meet Treasury Demands.
Although the administration is on record against this proposal, many senators expressed the belief that it would meet the demand of President Harding and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon that the bonus bill must carry with it the means for financing it.

They are counting on the payment of interest of foreign loans to assist in meeting the certificates of indebtedness when they come due. The state department has informed the foreign nations whose demand notes are held by this government, it was said at the treasury, that the

James Kirkley, 2216 Warren avenue, supposed to be Chicago's oldest citizen, is celebrating his 100th anniversary today. He was born in England and has lived in Chicago since 1857. Because of his advanced years and frailty no reception is being held. He will be the guest of his four children, his three grandchildren, and his great-grandson, James M. Kirkley IV.

United States is now prepared to conduct negotiations looking toward the transfer of the evidences of the debt into long time obligations. The treasury officials, it was declared, have had no advice from abroad as to how the foreign governments will conduct their end of the funding negotiations, but it is expected that most of the nations, Great Britain in particular, will be represented by their ambassadors already in the United States, although special commissions of financial experts may be sent to advise them.

FIRST STEPS IN ORGANIZED TREE PLANTING TAKEN

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Foresters took the first step yesterday in Chicago toward a definite plan of planting trees on at least a part of the 40,000,000 acres unit for cultivation in the central west states. Delegates representing the forestry interests of Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Indiana and Illinois have been in session at the Union League club for two days.

After reports had been made by representatives from each state, giving local problems, what the forestry agencies are doing to protect and replant forests and what immediate plans are to be carried out, a committee was appointed to convert the temporary Central States Forestry league into a permanent organization.

Formed Year Ago.

The league was temporarily formed at the foresters' conference here about a year ago. Eight members of the forestry committee of the Union League club and a member from each one of the eight central west states will form the committee.

The resolutions passed yesterday call for more adequate fire protection by the states, conservation of timber and reforestation of denuded areas. There are 30,000,000 acres of non-tillable land in the three great lake states—Michigan, Wisconsin, and Minnesota—experts said, that could be profitably used in the growing of trees.

Foresters declared farmers and timber owners find in excessive taxes the greatest discouragement to growing trees on their land. Experts said it must be made possible for land owners to grow trees without having to pay taxes that more than offset the value of the timber.

Profits Eaten Up.

It takes forty-five years to produce the most rapid growing tree in this country to a usable size, according to A. L. Osborn of the National Lumbermen's association. Taxes soon eat up the profits.

"We cut trees in Wisconsin so the crows haven't a branch left to light on," said Mr. Osborn. "That's sound economics. There is no one to guarantee the timber owner that fire and wind losses will be covered if he does selective cutting, leaving 25 per cent of his trees uncut."

"There's plenty of timber in this country today for future immediate use, but it's twenty-five to fifty years from now that interests the thinking forester. There is plenty of timber growing, but not enough—not as fast as it is being cut down."

MULVIHILL CHOSEN REPRESENTATIVE TO WATERWAY MEETING

William F. Mulvihill, attorney for the drainage board, was appointed representative to the annual convention of the Mississippi Valley association, which will be held in Kansas City April 25 and 26. The appointment was made yesterday at a meeting of the committee of the drainage board.

NEW DEVICE MAY PLACE RADIO ON A PAYING BASIS

BY CHARLES SLOAN.

Commercial transmission of radio concerts to a paying list of subscribers is to be attempted in Chicago within the next few months, according to rumors heard yesterday.

Through a new method of secret transmission, wherein the broadcasted material is sent out simultaneously on three or four different wave lengths so distorted that it is unintelligible and which is later converted in a special type of receiver, the promoters believe they can insure privacy to the point that only lessees of the receivers and the service may get the music.

Question of Revenue Puzzles.

For several months this method of transmission has been lauded as the one means of placing broadcasting on a commercial basis. The question of obtaining revenue from broadcasting stations is already puzzling many concerns which have erected and operated them merely as an advertising scheme.

Performers who will appear at a broadcasting studio without payment are becoming harder to find as the novelty wears off. Song publishers are protesting against the use of their output without the payment of royalties.

Ask Restriction of Actors.

The Actors' Equity league is demanding that its members be paid for their services—and in Chicago and other cities many vaudeville managers are asking their artists to sign contracts which will forbid them from taking part in radio programs.

Under the proposed new scheme of transmission—which, by the way, isn't quite perfected yet—it is hoped that all these items may be taken care of.

The North Shore post of the American Legion held open house to a large number of their members and friends at a radio concert at the Broadway armory last night.

The B. C. Cook company, Michigan avenue and 23d street, is drawing crowds nightly with a free radio concert.

Other automobile concerns are figuring on following suit, it is said.

"The Radio World," a new Chicago publication, devoted to wireless, is on sale at the news stands. Emil Garber and Stephen J. O'Connor are the publishers. "Radio Broadcast," a new monthly by Doubleday, Page & Co., also has made its appearance. It is perhaps the best typographically of any of the fourteen radio publications now on the market.

The Great American Dessert

KINGSFORD'S CORN STARCH PUDDING

2 cups scalded Milk 1/2 cup Sugar 2 Eggs 1/2 teaspoon Salt
4 level tablespoons Kingsford's Corn Starch 1/2 teaspoon Vanilla
1 oz. Chocolate melted (optional)

Mix the corn starch with a little cold milk. Stir the hot milk slowly into the corn starch and stir over water till it thickens. Cook fifteen minutes. Beat the eggs slightly, add the sugar and salt. Add the corn starch mixture to the eggs, and cook, stirring constantly, one minute longer. Remove from fire, add the vanilla or melted chocolate as desired. Serve cold with cream and sugar. (Serves six persons.)

It is not necessary to purchase both a bread and a pastry flour. By using quarter cup of Kingsford's Corn Starch to three-quarter cup of any good flour the percentage of gluten is decreased and the starch content increased so that home prepared flour will make a lighter and finer grained cake.

FRUIT: Ask your grocer or write Corn Products Refining Co., 208 E. Illinois St., Chicago, Ill., for beautiful folder of new Kingsford Corn Starch recipes.

COUNTERFEIT CHARGE PRO TO BE UNFOU

Washington, D. C., April 20.—(Special.)—The bomb launched by J. Coleman in the form of sensational charges in the Plate Printer, organ of the Plate Printers' union, that the country is flooded with counterfeit money, turned out today to be a dud.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon stated that the letter of Mr. Coleman, written in response to the secretary's demand that he produce the evidence on which the charge was based, had been received and found to be a compilation of reports and letters reaching far into the past, which had been detected and counterfeited.

Mr. Coleman himself said, "There was nothing to this." It was explained, a perfect situation was reported to the government at present had been for many years past no big or sensational counterfeiting pending nor on the same time past, it was said.

COUNTERFEITING CHARGE PROVES TO BE UNFOUNDED

Washington, D. C., April 20.—[Special.]—The bomb launched by Frank J. Coleman in the form of sensational charges in the Plate Printer, organ of the Plate Printers' union, that the country is flooded with counterfeit money, turned out today to be a dud.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon stated that the justice of Mr. Coleman, written in response to the secretary's demand that he produce the evidence on which the charge was based, had been received and found to contain only a compilation of reports of counterfeit money reaching far into the past, many of which had been detected and the counterfeiters punished.

ANDREW W. MELLON.

No Worse Than Past.

"There was nothing to the whole thing," it was explained, as the counterfeit situation was reported to be in no worse condition at present than it had been for many years past. There was no big or sensational case of counterfeiting pending nor on the books for some time past, it was stated.

Mr. Coleman himself said that his "evidence" consisted merely of reports and warnings issued by the treasury department. "We have simply taken the government warnings at their face value," he said, "and added up the totals."

Caraway Plans "Exposé."

Referring to the Coleman charges as "just a part of a continuous slander that is carried on by certain interests who profit by the shakeup and are trying to satisfy the minds of the public with reference to President Harding in the matter," Senator Caraway (Ark.) today contrasted the records of the present officials of the bureau with those they were seeking, he said, to discredit.

"Since they have seen fit, day after day, to slander these men who have been discharged by circulating false rumors," he said, "I intend to call attention to the character of some of the men who have profited by this change."

OPEN INQUIRY OF 'BOOKIES' ON TALE OF EMBEZZLER

Bookmakers throughout the city are to be investigated by the state's attorney's office as the result of disclosures made yesterday in an embroilment trial before Judge Kiekham Scanlan.

James W. Moore, former clerk of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, was found guilty of taking about $14,000 of the bank's funds. The testimony which he offered in his defense showed that most of the money had gone to bookmakers in "playing the ponies."

Assistant State's Attorney Edgar J. Cook last night put the machinery in motion for a wholesale crusade against the bookmakers, whom he characterized as "vultures preying upon the poor and oppressed." Judge Scanlan granted a three days' stay of sentence for Moore and said he would take up Moore's case with the pardon board.

Moore testified that he first took money from the bank when dunned by collectors who sought payment of doctors' bills incurred when his wife and 3 year old baby were ill. Then he began betting on the races with the bank's money in an effort to make up the money already taken.

"I placed money with a man named Brady, a man named Frank Emmett, one named Wrigley, all on the south side," Moore said. "I also did business with a man named Newell, who had headquarters in Glomski's saloon, on La Salle street, across from the city hall."

SEN FERNANDES REINSTATE.

Sen Fernando of the Fernandez Gold company, Springfield, Ill., was cleared of charges of business irregularities yesterday and reinstated by the Board of Trade directors. The case has been hanging fire for months and has been before the Board of Trade directors for two days. Among the charges was one of blackmail brought by a former partner.

GALE-WRECKED CHURCH WILL BE REBUILT AT ONCE

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.
The Immanuel Baptist church, 254 Street and South Michigan avenue, which suffered the loss of its steeple and damage to its roof in the high wind on Wednesday, may be down, but it is not out.

DR. JOHNSTON MYERS.

A meeting of church officials was held yesterday and the decision was unanimously reached that immediate steps would be taken to rebuild.

Loss is $25,000.
"Our loss is severe because we carried no insurance against wind," said the pastor, Dr. Johnston Myers. "It will require $25,000 to repair the damage and we are already carrying an annual budget of $40,000, which is a heavy load. Our trustees all felt that the work of the church was needed and messages of sympathy have come in from all sides, so we are determined to go ahead."

"We are considering erecting a front to the church providing for offices that will afford an income. We will also adapt the church more fully to the special forms of service which we have carried on for years past."

Pastor for Twenty-seven Years.
Dr. Myers has been pastor of Immanuel church for twenty-seven years. Five years ago he offered his resignation, but the church refused to accept it. In 1919 the church expended $10,000 in fitting up social rooms and installing church offices. Its various activities have required a paid working staff of twenty-five, eighteen of whom give their entire time.

The Easter offering last Sunday was $10,000 towards the current budget. Food and clothing have been given to several thousand needy persons every year.

The trustees of the church are William H. Bard, W. H. Lyford, Arthur R. Moore, W. H. B. Stephens, and O. R. Williams. John Nuveen is treasurer.

NEW TARIFF NOT TO BOOST PRICES, McCUMBER SAYS

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., April 20.—[Special.]—Debate on the tariff bill on the floor of the senate was opened by Senator McCumber (N. D.), chairman of the senate finance committee, today in an address in which he declared that while American producers are given greater protection no increase in the cost of living will result. Senator McCumber said that if even the protection given agriculture means any increase in the cost of living the public will be more than compensated because of increased industrial activity which will result from the farmers' greater purchasing power.

speech the perfunctory reading of the voluminous bill took place.

Democratic senators inquired of Senator McCumber if the senate were not to have an opportunity to pass on the question of American valuation. Senator McCumber replied that he saw no need of a detailed discussion of the valuation issue on the floor of the senate, inasmuch as the finance committee has approved foreign valuation. He said that in case there is a deadlock in conference, with the house insisting upon American valuation, he could give assurance that there will be a full opportunity for discussion in the senate at that time.

Senator McCumber in his address declared that while abnormal conditions have made this a difficult time in which to write a tariff bill, yet a protective tariff is more needed than ever before.

FOUR "SLUGGER" SUSPECTS TAKEN BY DETECTIVES

DRAMA LEAGUE IS TOLD NEW PLAYS WON'T COME HERE

Expense Cuts Necessary, Producer Says.

Chicago first nighters who anticipate witnessing the initial performances here of several more New York productions this season are doomed to disappointment. Not more than one or two New York plays will come to Chicago before the end of the season, and the playhouses will close unusually early this spring, on account of the policy of retrenchment now being followed by producers.

Such was the prediction voiced by Arba Blodgett, New York theatrical producer, yesterday at the opening session of the twelfth annual convention of the Drama League of America. The convention is being held in the Evanston Woman's club quarters, Evanston. "Admission prices are too high," Mr. Blodgett said, "but that is because of the high cost of production. It costs from $8,000 to $45,000 to try out a new play, and the producer has no assurance his play will succeed."

Want Good Plays.

Producers are eager for good plays, according to Mr. Blodgett, but few good ones are being written. Out of 6,000 plays he had read he said he found only two worth producing. He urged members of the league, many of whom are writers, to persist in writing plays.

On account of the cost of production, Mr. Blodgett said, the one night play and the road show are "dead, buried, and forgotten." William Owen, an actor, who followed Mr. Blodgett as speaker, contradicted this statement, saying that the road show is very much alive, and that the only difficulty is to get good actors who are willing to endure the inconvenience of touring. "We are all rebels or we wouldn't be here," Mr. Owen said. "We should all rebel against conditions which make it necessary for a producer to spend $8,000 putting on a play. We should work for lower prices."

Today's Topics.

"Organizing and Training Public Opinion" and "What Colleges Are Doing for Drama" will be discussed today at the convention.

Eye Witness, special writer for THE TRIBUNE, will speak today on "Dramatic Criticism as Seen by the Veterans."

Saturday's sessions of the convention will consider the problem of educating audiences. The convention proper will close Saturday night, but for the benefit of those attending, the Cathedral Players will present a religious pageant, "San Greal," by St. John Tucker.

The Woman He Forgot
By ELIZABETH YORK MILLER

SYNOPSIS.
Nora Clayton, beautiful and still young, although she is the mother of a nineteen year old son, returns to England, after a exile of sixteen years, when she learns that her son is having a desperate love affair with Lady Helen Margery, a woman years older than himself. Nora realises that she has loved devotedly, although he was blind, Lucien, believing that she was young with him. With her two year old child he had cast and she allowed her husband to believe that he was in a railway accident. The day she reaches England Nora meets her husband, who is no longer blind, at the home of her friend, Fanny Flute. She discovers he and Bill are friends. Lucien does not recognize his wife, but is atoned.

Nora and her son quarrel about Lady Helen. They are already married, but Helen, who knows her allowance from her divorced husband would cease if the news of the marriage were known, forces Bill to keep it secret even from his mother. Bill breaks an engagement with his wife in order to spend an evening with his mother.

INSTALLMENT XVII.
LUCIEN KNOWS HELEN'S SECRET.

There were two courses open to Helen and she had not, as yet, decided which one to take. She could declare her marriage with Bill and thereby forfeit her first husband's charity, or she could go on indefinitely, as now, keeping Bill in a slightly darker corner and running the risk of Margery's finding out. Ultimately he probably would find out. In a way there was a third Bill out of her life entirely. But she knew, deep down in that queer soul of hers, that she was too mad about him to let him go. She was willing to be cast off. She loved him more than she did Margery's money.

As for Peter Margery, he had surprised himself really more than he had her by his bold statement. She had known all the time that he had it in him to be hateful. Those dull, stupid looking men of the world blinking their blue eyes and telling everybody what good, simple hearted fellows they are—well, try them and see. As easy to shatter the rock of ages with a toy hatchet as her mother's stock phrases was, "I always stick to my word." Un- fortunately it was no idle threat, and it could work both ways. He had stuck by his word when he had told Helen that as long as she behaved herself—no to be the censor of her conduct—he would provide for her. And now he was displeased with her, and the fact that she had been so kind to him, and his mode of life and find herself a new set of companions.

She could rage and storm as much as she pleased. Margery would stick by his word. The matter involved not merely herself—which was quite enough as it stood—but her rather eccentric father between whom and Helen there existed a bond of true sympathy. Lord Delacoe also lived by the kindness of Peter Margery. But for Peter there would be no Delacoe Castle, no salmon fishing on twelfth of August that could matter as far as Lord Delacoe was concerned. He could exist without Peter Margery, but he could not live. These things she had to consider.

Helen had been so bitterly ashamed of this episode that confession was out of the question. She fled to her father in the north and waited distressfully to hear what might have resulted. Within a fortnight it came. Eileen and her baby were dead. Capt. Fairchild had disappeared. A gossip letter from her late hostess informed Helen that Lucien Thorpe "must have discovered something," for he had turned Eileen out and had retribution had overtaken her. Lucien was reported dangerously ill in consequence of the shock.

Helen covered fearfully at Delacoe Castle, where things were going badly. No money. Lord Delacoe decided to leave home. He would have to part with this noble home of his ancestors. Among those who came to inspect the old place was a Mr. Peter Margery, wholesale leather merchant. Helen felt she might as well marry him as not. They lived together nearly ten years before she decided finally that he was intolerable. He was too easy to get rid of, in a legal sense, as he had been to marry. She knew how to make herself thoroughly disagreeable. But now, with ancient history brought up to date, she discovered she had not got rid of him. He had agreed to the divorce, even arranged the divorce, but she had not, but in lieu of alimony had proposed a cash settlement of twenty thousand pounds, and she had accepted it gladly, if not greedily.

How easy to discount the future with its enormous possibilities. That had always been her trouble. She had never lived for anything but the moment, and even now, when faced with grave consequences, she could not bring herself to do so.

She could only rage because Bill Clayton had slighted her in favor of his mother.

By the time Lucien called, however, she had calmed down a little and was revelling in the thought that Bill could not possibly be enjoying himself. He was already more than a little jealous of Lucien and his evening would be entirely spoiled. He would picture her at Palermo's with the man he had fancied was his rival, dining and dancing at the pleasant riverbank, and then on the terrace between whistles to watch the silent barges slip by and the play of moonlight on the oily waters. And he would be wildly jealous and as thoroughly miserable as he deserved. That would teach him his lesson.

Dared she trifles seriously with Lucien? Nothing had ever annoyed her quite so much as his belated offer of marriage. Perhaps he had only done so in purpose to annoy her, in which case it would serve him right to give him a scare.

When his car glided up she was ready and waiting.

"I feel myself uncommonly flattered," he said, as he helped her into it. "But I suppose I'm only second best."

"You were never that," she replied softly.

She slipped her hand into his with the confident gesture of a child, and he thought of that other woman last night who had withdrawn her when some irresistible impulse moved him to capture it.

The evening passed much as Helen hoped Bill imagined it. At Palermo's one may dine well and Helen, unlike the majority of her sex, possessed an appreciative palate. It was one of her attractions to men that she could enjoy a really good dinner. They did not dance a great deal, however. It was too warm and Lucien frankly rebelled. But they sat on the terrace and talked. Helen was brilliant, even a little daring. Her thoughts fluttered off to Margery and then to Nora. Perhaps he had only done so in purpose to annoy her, in which case it would serve him right to give him a scare.

"And so now you want me to marry you," she murmured in a slightly cynical smile.

"Hardly," he replied.

She turned to him with quick passion. "How dare you make fun of me! Why only yesterday, or was it the day before?"

"My dear Helen, don't do it to me, you surely, who are joking. Yesterday I did not know that you were actually married to Billy."

The woman gasped softly, utterly taken aback. Then she laughed.

"You win, Lucien. But how did you find out? And it's a dead secret. For heaven's sake, don't tell me everybody knows it. Her thoughts fluttered off to Margery and then to Nora. Perhaps he had only done so in purpose to annoy her, in which case it would serve him right to give him a scare.

"I had my suspicions and I went to Somerset House as the quickest means of verifying them. You must forgive me, Helen, if I've pried into your affairs to that extent."

"I'll forgive you if you'll keep your precious information to yourself," she replied.

The evening was utterly spoiled now. Lucien would not flirt with her, and anyway she had lost interest in it. She wished she hadn't been quite so peremptory with Bill. It was only a little after eleven. If she went home now perhaps she could get hold of him on the telephone or he would ring up. "You're so dull," she said, putting down a yawn not too delicately. "Tell me about my new chimney-lawn. What's she like at close quarters? You must have got quite chummy last night. Did you talk about me?"

"I'm afraid I did, a little," Thorpe confessed.

"Funny she should dislike me so when we've scarcely met."

"I don't think she dislikes you personally."

"O, I know! The same old story. Soon I shall begin to believe I am old and that the grave is the only decent place for me. I want to go home, Lucien. I'm dead sick of this. What you've told me is most disconcerting. If you've found out our secret, then there's no reason why other people can't."

"Why do you want to keep your marriage a secret?" he asked.

"Because of Margery, idiot. Don't you know I haven't a penny except what he chooses to give me?"

"No, I didn't know that. Good God, Helen, do you mean to tell me—"

"That Bill doesn't know? Of course he doesn't."

"You're doing the boy a beastly wrong," he said in deep disgust. "Bill has ideals, unless I'm mistaken, and I suppose you are one of them. If he thought you were keeping quiet about your marriage for the sake of what you can get out of Margery there'd be the dickens to pay."

"O, if men weren't so impractical!" she cried. "Will you kindly tell me how I am to live without money?"

He did not answer that question. He was glad to get her home again; glad to get away from her; glad that she did not invite him to come in when they reached Claverton Square.

The door had shut upon her and Thorpe paused half way to the gate to light a cigar. The old square lay quiet with a light showing dimly behind drawn curtains. The traffic in the High Street sounded afar like the muffled wash of the surf on a shingled beach.

The cigar satisfactorily lighted, Thorpe pursued his way to the car and entered it. As it swung off a man emerged from the shadows of the square palings. He had been watching since before the car drove up, but, standing close to the palings under a lime tree, his presence had not been remarked.

GIRL UNABLE TO TELL WHO MADE ATTACK ON HER

Police Baffled by Lack of Information.

Lying in bed at her home at 1308 Brown street, Des Plaines, Miss Dorothy Marie Burchard last night stated she did not know the identity of the men who abducted her from her beauty parlor in Lee street, Des Plaines, bound and gagged her, and left her in the roadside Tuesday night.

"I felt a draft coming in through the door," she said. "There was somebody standing beside me. That's the last I remember."

A Telephone Call.

"Some one called her on the telephone a few minutes before 7 that night," said her mother, Mrs. Alvina Burchard. "I told him that she wasn't home yet. He didn't tell us his name, but said that he would call Dorothy at the shop."

With her clothing almost ripped from her, her throat bound by wire, her mouth gagged, and her body a mass of bruises, Miss Burchard was found three miles from Des Plaines at 5 o'clock Wednesday morning.

William Henrichsen of Park Ridge saw her. He took her to a nearby farmhouse, where Dr. Irving Pascoe was called. A few more hours of exposure, the physician said, would have meant her death.

The kidnapping and attack happened shortly after 7 o'clock. Although the interior of the shop gave evidence of a considerable struggle, no one in the street heard it.

Letter Found.

Among the papers found in the shop was a letter signed by Elmer McGrath, sent from California, stating that he was coming east. The two had been good friends until it was learned that McGrath was married. "O. K.—Dan," was the inscription on a postcard, and other letter indicated that she was at one time engaged to wed W. A. Hamilton of Cedar Rapids.

Coroner Hoffman, a fellow townsman of the girl, expressed a belief that memoriam was brought into play. That, he said, would explain her lack of recollection. The girl, however, knows no one with those powers, although she has delved a bit in matters occult, she said.

THIS BLUE FISH CAUGHT SUCKER, "ANGEL" ADMITS

Abe Holzman, erstwhile angel of the Blue Fish club, yesterday bought a way ticket back to Philadelphia from the shores of Bohemia. The ticket was in the form of a bill filed in the Circuit court. Judge Oscar M. Torison granted him a temporary injunction restraining John Loughman from disposing of club funds.

The former angel, a prosperous newspaper vendor, was given to amateur oratory. It was suggested to him by Dr. Loughman, Dr. Ben Friedman, and other of the cognoscenti that he place all his own, where he could talk all he liked, would be the berries. Hence the Blue Fish.

But, claimed Mr. Holzman, as he himself absorbed the essence of radicalism, his associate, Mr. Loughman, became impregnated with the insidious germs of capitalism. The Holzman bankroll, amassed copper by copper at the loop corner, began to disappear. The Blue Fish foreman was interesting, but nondividend paying.

Mr. Loughman, the bill sets forth, decided to establish a high class tea room for the north side intelligentsia. Mr. Holzman, it continues, whose money was involved, was excluded entirely from the project. And so the great bequest of the court to enjoin the other from disposing of any Blue Fish funds, or to contract with any other person in a tea room in which Mr. Holzman has not a substantial interest.

Soldier Insane from Shell Shock Flees from Asylum

Edward Farry, 23, an ex-service man, insane as a result of shell shock and poison gas suffered on his third trip "over the top" in the great war, escaped from the Elgin asylum yesterday. He made his way to the home of his sister, Mrs. G. M. Bolle, 1114 Wenonah avenue, Oak Park. She notified the police, and he will be taken back today.

BRUCE D. SMITH WANTS ALIMONY PAYMENT HALTED

Former Wife Has Remarried, He Says.

Declaring that his recent marriage terminated her right to maintenance by him, Capt. Bruce Donald Smith, son of the late Byron L. Smith, yesterday filed a petition in the Circuit court of Cook county to have the $15,000 annual alimony agreement awarded his former wife, now Mrs. H. Lindley Johnston, set aside.

In the petition filed by Attorney Sims, Goffman and De Young, Smith asserts that the income from his property, placed in trust under the agreement, is barely sufficient to pay the yearly alimony as an ex-serviceman. He is left nearly penniless. The property consists of securities and real estate normally valued at $500,000.

The Smith divorce caused much comment in Chicago and Lake Forest. It was granted June 3, 1920, a few days after Mrs. Florence Fisher, wife of one of Smith's "buddies," had obtained a divorce from Capt. George Farnsworth Fisher, 1440 Astor street. They were brother officers in the 1st Illinois artillery on the Mexican border in 1916. They entered the war, but followed different lines. Capt. Smith was in chemical warfare service and Fisher in aviation. Fisher came home in a plaster cast, and it was thought for a time he never would walk again. After he was convalescent his wife went to California and there filed her suit for divorce, alleging desertion. On June 22, 1921, Smith married Mrs. Johnston. Mrs. Smith was married a month later to H. Lindley Johnston of New York.

Soloman A. Smith, president of the Northern Trust company, Walter E. Smith and Harold C. Smith, trustees of the agreement, and brothers of Capt. Smith, are made defendants in the petition, as well as the former Mrs. Smith.

Smith, in the petition asking the restoration of his property, asserts his willingness to make a suitable lump sum settlement for the maintenance of his three children, Bruce D. Jr., 12; Pauline, 10, and Charlotte, 6.

BEG YOUR PARDON COLLEGE HEAD SLAPS AT FORD, EDISON, BRYAN

Specialists like Henry Ford, Thomas Edison and William Jennings Bryan who go out of their sphere to teach what, he said, they know nothing about, were criticized last evening in an address on the "College and the Church" by Dr. Silas Evans, president of Ripon college, Wis., who spoke at the Presbyterian union banquet in the Morrison hotel.

There were 440 present. Frederick P. Yocum was elected president for next year.

"Henry Ford knows more about automobiles than I do, but I know more than he does about the history of the United States, about which he is trying to instruct this nation," said Dr. Evans.

"Thomas Edison is a wizard in electricity but when he discourses on morality he is talking without knowledge."

"William Jennings Bryan, politician, sometimes a statesman, is beyond his depth when he begins to teach science and evolution."

His Specialists.

"Some specialists know pretty nearly everything about next to nothing so that they know next to nothing about everything."

Dr. Evans scored certain schools and the American youth for lack of Bible knowledge and morality.

"We have enough pedagogy on hand which we have not used, to run ten years, but not enough morals to run a day," he said. "There are plenty of American youths with intelligence enough to run an automobile but with not enough morals to run a go-cart."

"Forty per cent under 21 in this country know nothing about religious education. The lack of knowledge of high school boys and girls about the Bible is alarming. Colleges are criticized because they are said to be drifting away from the Christian faith, but my observation is that in the American Christian college the student at graduation is clearer in faith and better in morals than when he entered as a freshman."

Need Hard Knocks.

"Some people are enamored of big numbers. Many a 'honey boy' on the waiting list of eastern colleges would have come out better if he had gone through the rough and tumble of our public schools."

Trio Out of Places, Dr. Evans Says.

The Inquiring Reporter
Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 each for questions which are accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send in your name and address with your questions to "The Inquiring Reporter, Chicago Tribune." No questions will be returned. For today's question Mrs. Edward Thiel, 248 Linden street, Fond du Lac, Wis., was awarded $5.

The Question.

What do you think is the world's greatest invention?

Where Asked.

In Tribune building lobby, Madison and Dearborn streets.

The Answers.

Charles J. Molino, 407 West Oak street, salesman—

Seems to me the world's greatest invention is the steam engine, for the reason that it has unlocked probably the world's greatest motive force. It brought under control the power of nature's natural resources than any other invention has.

Miss Rose Kovats, 3935 Pine Grove avenue, nurse—I don't know what actually is the world's greatest invention, but I can't think of anything that has been more useful to us womenfolk than the sewing machine. I don't know whether the women of his time ever sent him any Christmas presents, but he sure deserved some fine ones.

Reinhard F. Volkmar, 1731 Hudson avenue, advertising—

Seems to me it would be hard to name an invention that has been of more intrinsic worth to the world than the printing press. Were it not for the printing press we would still be living in the dark ages. The printed page has made civilization what it is today.

Miss Alice McKenna, 4201 North Ashland avenue, music saleslady—

The telephone. That may not be the greatest invention of all time, but it is certainly one of the last things we would willingly part with. Not only could we scarcely do without it, but think of the marvel of it—to converse with people thousands of miles away.

John W. Graces, 644 Webster avenue, printer—The radio is sure a wonder. Not technically an invention? Well, it's a wonderful something just the same. The absolute lack of knowledge of a few years ago has come to life. It has shown that anything whatever may be possible.

INDICTMENT OF 6 SEEN IN HUGE BANK SHORTAGE

Federal Quiz Also Will Be Conducted.

Subpoenas calling officials and directors of the Milwaukee-Irving State bank and representatives of at least a dozen other banks and business organizations to the federal building for questioning concerning the "million dollar" financial tangle developed by Everett R. Peacock, "champion borrower," will be placed in the hands of United States deputy marshals this week.

The subpoenas will be issued at the request of Attorney R. S. Clute, counsel for Edwin Bull, receiver, and will be returnable before Referee in Bankruptcy Eastman. The object of the inquiry will be the unscrambling of frenzied financial operations of Peacock which state investigation has revealed. This will be done so that all assets properly belonging to the receiver can be turned over to creditors of the Everett R. Peacock Seed company, now bankrupt.

Grand Jury to Act Tuesday.

This announcement was made yesterday as the state's attorney prepared to go before the grand jury Tuesday with evidence which he believes will result in the indictment of at least five men alleged co-conspirators with Peacock. They will be charged with conspiracy in connection with the $450,000 shortage, since made up at the Milwaukee-Irving State bank.

This money, according to evidence obtained from confessions and from directors of the bank, was withdrawn by Peacock and his confederates on worthless checks and by "kiting." It is also alleged that Peacock borrowed almost $200,000 from other banks and individuals secured by Peacock or one of the other men or lost in speculation.

Probe Has Two Objects.

In announcing the beginning of the federal investigation, Mr. Clute said that the shortage was two fold.

They want to know where the $450,000 is missing cash has gone.

They want to scrutinize every transaction made by Peacock with the Milwaukee-Irving State bank and other banks in order to find out if securities are held which should properly belong to the receiver.

"This means that some 100 business men and officials will be questioned," Attorney Clute said last night. "We are determined to sift this matter to the bottom and the only way it can be done is to let the men who know before a referee and make them testify under oath."

The receiver's attorney said yesterday that a week's investigation had revealed approximately $30,000 in unnumbered assets. Even the value of this is problematical. The liabilities will run over $500,000 it is said if the bank shortages are counted.

Can't Estimate Assets.

"It is impossible to judge the assets now," said Attorney Clute. "All we have is grain, warehouses, five companies in which Peacock was interested, warehouse receipts, and stock. His home, west side property, but so much of it is encumbered and used as securities for loans that its value is problematical."

In the meantime, the Milwaukee-Irving State bank has made up all shortages and plans to do business as a national bank. Attorney Jonas yesterday declared that the bank was sound.

A statement made by Albert Speder, former president of the Milwaukee-Irving State bank in which he attacked the present directors of the bank and a confession made by Axel Stetterberg, vice president of the Everett R. Peacock Seed Co., were the highlights of yesterday's investigation.

Speder yesterday denied making a confession in which he is alleged to have admitted "kiting" checks, called Peacock a liar, and declared that all the directors of the institution had had full knowledge of all the financial transactions Peacock had with the Milwaukee-Irving State bank.

Peacock had admitted borrowing approximately $400,000 from the Milwaukee-Irving State bank by cashing checks on the institution when his bank account was already overdrawn. This, he said, had been done with the knowledge of the directors. The directors denied this with the single exception that they had known of a single overdraft of $40,000 which they were assured had been fully covered by securities.

SHORT COVERING BRINGS CLOSING RALLY IN WHEAT

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Grain prices fluctuated rapidly with a relatively narrow range. Sentiment was mixed but toward the last, local short covering made a strong rally and wheat closed $\frac{1}{4}$ higher on May, unchanged on July and $\frac{1}{8}$ lower on the September. Corn was unchanged to $\frac{1}{8}$ lower, oats $\frac{1}{8}$ higher and rye $\frac{1}{8}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ higher.

With a majority of the local market long overnight and Liverpool closing $\frac{1}{4}$ higher, due to the forecast for larger Argentine exports for the week, it was easy to bring about a decline of $\frac{1}{8}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ early. The pit element turned to the bear side and, while they were disposed to keep close to shore, they managed to get short around the bottom, and their buying was mainly responsible for the closing rally.

Corn and oats held within relatively narrow limits, with commission houses fair buyers on all the breaks. Exporters were after rye and, with the seaboard on the buying side, it led the advance in all grains.

Provisions were quiet early, but showed more activity toward the last, and closed at the top, with net gains of $\frac{1}{16}$ to $\frac{1}{8}$ on lard and $\frac{1}{16}$ to $\frac{1}{8}$ on short ribs. Export bids were generally well out of line. There was some selling of May and buying of July lard. Prices follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Sentiment among most local wheat traders last night was inclined to be bearish, while there were a good many professionals and commission houses who favored the buying side on all sharp breaks. New business in May is light and many pit operators are getting out of their delivery and into the May for the present. The market is active, with a tendency to leading interests on both sides. Cash interests are selling May against purchases at Kansas City, with 100,000 bush bought yesterday, making 400,000 bush in three days. They find the best market for cash wheat in the Chicago May for the present. On all sharp breaks the market gets support, while enough comes out in buyers to satisfy buyers and prevent prices getting too high.

Local and northwestern houses were active in buying July and selling September wheat, which furnishes a good percentage of the business. The Chicago market was more in line with the southwest yesterday, the premium on all breaks. They say prices have held around the present level long enough, and there should be an advance on general principles. The trade has been very bearish and has not succeeded in getting values down, while they react whenever the pressure is removed and there is any increase in buying. The theory is that there will be a light movement of both grains from the country for more than thirty days, and stocks are expected to decline.

In addition to the active buying of May and selling of July corn by elevator interests at $\frac{3}{8}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ difference there was an increased trade in buying July and selling September at $\frac{3}{8}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ difference. Small holders are gradually working out of May and increased trade is coming into July.

"Sowing of small grains in the west and northwest continues to our lines will be three weeks late this year," said A. C. Johnson, vice president of the Chicago and North Western railroad. "Last year this grain was sown the first week in April. The late snows and rains have created a soil condition that should favor small grain production. Present conditions will have no effect on corn planting, which does not begin until May 1."

Argentina has 45,000,000 bush wheat remaining for export to Europe, according to a letter to the J. Rosenbaum Grain Company from a leading miller in that country. The commercial estimate of 130,000,000 bush surplus, he declares, is too high. Brazil needs around 20,000,000 bush. Eliminating this quantity would leave 110,000,000 bush, on the basis of the high estimate, with 50,000,000 bush cleared so far. Exportable surplus of corn is estimated at 100,000,000 bush at the maximum, the crop being about half of what it was last year.

COAL STROKE HITS RAILROADS HARD 20,000 OFF

BY O. A. MATHER.

The coal strike appears to be affecting the railroads more seriously than other industries. A decrease of 112,743 in the number of revenue freight cars loaded during the week ended April 15 was reported by the Association of Railway Executives. This was due entirely to a falling off in shipments of coal, loading of which totaled 89,456 cars for the week, a reduction of more than 115,000 cars from the preceding week. Increased shipments of merchandise and miscellaneous freight were shown, the total loadings of 714,268 cars showing an increase of 19,387 over the corresponding week in 1921.

The number of railroad employees laid off or placed on short time since April 1 as a result of the strike is estimated by railroad operating officials.

Banks Reflect Improving Conditions.

The steady return to normalcy in the country's credit situation is reflected in the weekly statement of the Federal Reserve system. The consolidated report of the twelve federal reserve banks shows that loans now are lower than at any time since March 1918, and have been more than cut in half since the first of this year. In the last week loans declined $20,751,000; bills bought, $6,234,000; and total bills, $7,017,000. Gold and total reserves increased $1,000,000, and federal reserve notes declined $1,000,000.

New York Bank's Statement.

The New York federal reserve bank shows loans declined $5,010,000; bills bought, $7,499,000; and total bills, $11,000,000. Gold and total reserves increased $6,788,000, and federal reserve notes declined $7,737,000. The ratio of total reserves to deposits and federal reserve notes combined fell to 85.6 from 86.2 per cent in the preceding week.

The Chicago Federal Reserve Bank.

The Chicago federal reserve bank shows loans increased $1,000,000; bills bought, $1,898,000; and total bills, $2,777,000. Gold and total reserves declined $7,737,000, and federal reserve notes increased $1,000,000. The ratio of total reserves to deposits and federal reserve notes combined fell to 74.1 from 74.1 per cent in the preceding week.

FINANCIAL NOTES

It has been many a day since the stock market could be called the market of the future. Yesterday, however, this one-time highly speculative issue resumed some of its old time leadership in the market. The turnover was fairly heavy, in the neighborhood of 50,000 shares.

Some old stocks showed weakness just before the close, mainly due to reports that several of the Texas companies were showing signs of weakness.

The constant recurring report of a consolidation of all New York Central subsidiaries has been used to stir up speculation in many brokerage circles for the strength in the company's stock. Trading amounted to 12,100 shares, the final quotation registering an advance of 1/2 point. With the merger rumors reports that such development would be attended by an increase in the dividend rate to 7 per cent. Interests closely associated with the Central management again pressed ignorance.

The recent strength in the copper stocks has been based on reports that the metal both for local and foreign demand.

March sales were the largest since the closing months of last year, and the whole, while April sales are reported to be making a good showing in comparison. It was said in one quarter the Copper Export association had sold 41,000 tons, the largest month since the organization.

F. M. Harrison resigned as president and director of the U. S. Industrial Alcohol company.

At the annual meeting of the Mexican Seaboard Oil company the directors were re-elected with exception of Harry Furber White, who was elected to the position of secretary.

The highest price—$93.00—paid this year for a seat on the New York Central for May 25.

Public Service company of Northern Illinois has called for redemption on May 25, at 110 and accrued interest, its issue of 7 1/2 per cent convertible gold debentures, dated March 1, 1921, and maturing March 1, 1929. The issue amounts to $2,500,000.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

Explosion Kills Hundreds in Serbia—Lloyd George Predicts Success for Genoa Meet—Cubs Win, 3 to 1

PANORAMA OF MONASTIR, SCENE OF TRAGIC EXPLOSION. The picture was taken by Howard H. Logan, 1150 Lake Shore drive, during the war. Mr. Logan was in command of a Red Cross commission in Serbia and was in Monastir several months. The barracks shown in the foreground were occupied by soldiers, many of whom are reported dead or missing since the explosion. Part of the explosives are believed to have been stored in these barracks.

DROPS IN FROM IOWA TO SHOP. Mrs. C. E. Tuttle of Red Oak (right) says she will fly to Chicago weekly. Mechanician E. D.

Wagner and Mrs. Tuttle's sister, Mrs. D. A. Marks, are shown. The plane landed at Elmhurst yesterday after running out of gas.

AXEL SETTERBERG, vice president of Everette R. Peacock Seed Co., who confessed in Milwaukee-Irving bank case.

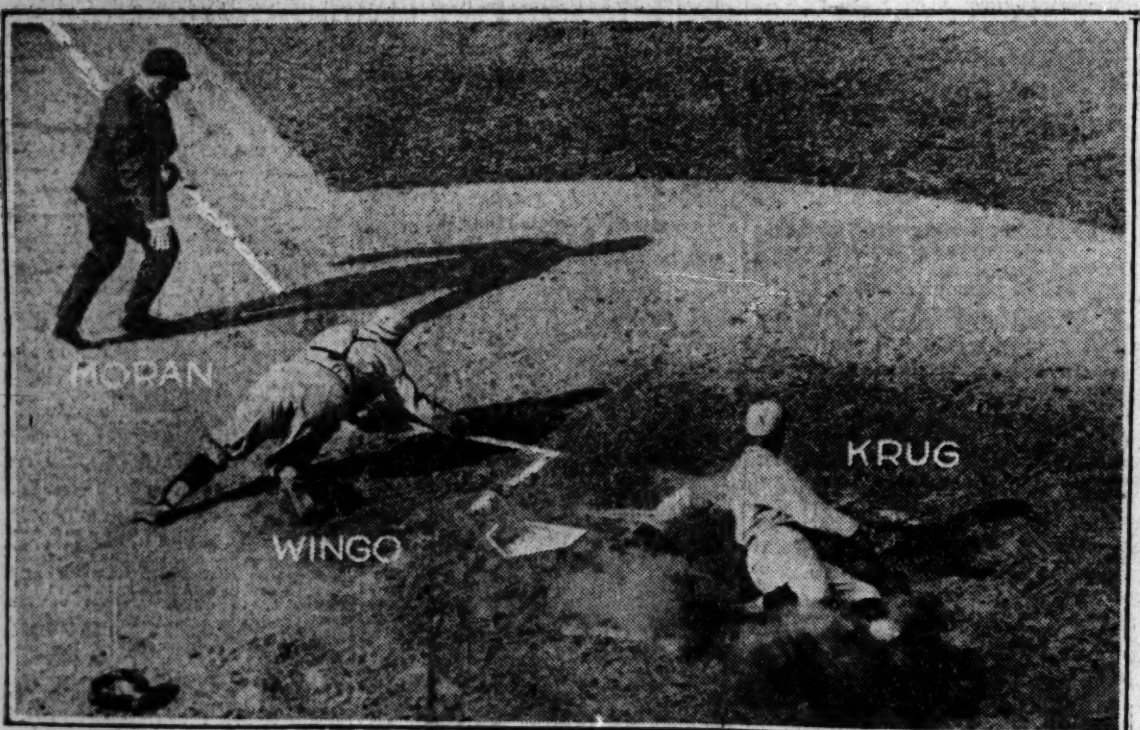

ON TRIAL FOR MURDER. Mrs. Catherine Rosier, in courtroom in Philadelphia. She is charged with killing her husband and his stenographer.

LLOYD GEORGE SMILING THROUGH. Yesterday he predicted a huge success for the Genoa conference. Looking at the camera is

CUBS WIN FIRST ON HOME GROUNDS. Marty Krug scores Cubs' first run. Shortstop Caveney juggled Stutz's grounder and then allowed Krug to slide across the pan on a wide throw to Wingo.

ASKS THAT $15,000 ALIMONY BE SET ASIDE. Capt. Bruce Donald Smith avers his income has decreased so he cannot pay the annual amount to his divorced wife, Mrs. Paulina Smith Johnston.

GIRL KIDNAPED AND ATTACKED. Dorothy Marie Burchard, abducted from her beauty shop in Des Plaines by a party of young men, was left lying bound and gagged by the roadside.

THE LIGHTER SIDE OF LIFE. Sir Arthur Balfour, Mrs. Beamish, Mlle. Lenglen and King Gustave of Sweden are enjoying a series of tennis doubles in France.

COUNTESS DE JANZE, formerly Alice Silverthorne of Chicago, is with Mary Landon Baker in France.

MILK GOATS COMING FROM CALIFORNIA. Part of the Toggenberg herd purchased near Los Angeles by Charles A. Stevens of Chicago for auction among millionaire Chicagoans on his Delavan Lake, Wis., farm in June. They are insured for $20,000.
